Musings from fisherman's corner

Things Aquatic and Historical - One can tell the water is warming up again as what we call summer gets under way although my recent excursion does not re-enforce the facts. But it must be warming up as I have seen sea horses or to be exact a seahorse on three occasions in the marina, a fascinating sight to see this little creature with its fins fluttering furiously yet moving at a very sedate pace, its amazing what life is there for us to see should we take the time to look. As usual the mackerel put in an appearance in large numbers which gave plenty of sport for those busy sounding the depth with weighted feathers ( honest Phil we weren't fishing just improvising a sounding line with coloured feathers instead of leather, string etc)

Of course everyone knows that the D-Day comemoration has recently taken place and pontoon 33 also known as lobster alley did it proud, organised primarily by Keith AKA The Captain, and Martin and Tania, his good lady. Where all the flags came from I have know idea but it was indeed a most colourful spectacle and the music was of course of the era, (I seem to have a vague recollection of the celebrations lasting the entire weekend, The bottle bank had large deposits on Monday or was it Tuesday?).

July 4th - A most important day. The boat safari, I have heard it mentioned our colonial cousins also celebrated some minor event that day too but as they were not here it of no matter. In short it was an evening of good company, good food and an excess of wine and not a hint of tea or a turkey in sight. So in the best tradition of looney toons - Thats all folks
